UM HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT OFFERS SUMMER COURSES

MISSOULA--

The University of Montana summer session offerings in the Department of Health and Physical Education include a special course covering legal issues in the field.

"Legal Issues in Physical Education and Sport," a three-credit course to be given during the first session, June 22-July 17, is designed for anyone who teaches movement activities, coaches sports, directs recreational programs or is an athletic trainer or administrator. The course will be taught by associate professor Gary Nygaard.

Highlights of the course include discussion of court cases resulting in liability of studied groups and discussion of procedures to reduce likelihood of litigation. Emphasis will be placed on current cases in the Pacific Northwest.

Along with the regular schedule of classes, there will also be some courses offered through the Center for Continuing Education during the pre-session, June 15-19. Courses in coaching football, basketball, track and field, soccer and a course in adventure education will be offered for special fees and credits.

Summer session bulletins may be obtained from the Summer Programs Office, 125 Main Hall, University of Montana, Missoula, MT 59812; (406) 243-2900. The bulletin contains all necessary information and application forms.

Former UM students should contact the Office of Admissions, (406) 243-6266, for information about re-application.
